DAMAGE SUIT IS NEARING THE END

The damage suit of Perkins vs. Sunset Telephone and Telegraph Company has been occupying the superior court since Tuesday. It will be rememberd that Mrs. Frank Perkins fell into a hole dug by the telephone company employees and it is alleged the lady was badly injured. The testimony of three physicians confirmed this allegation.

Mrs. Perkins made an alleged settlement with the company shortly after the accident for the sum of $500. It was afterwards claimed that she was not in a fit condition to transact business at that time and the settlement was repudiated and suit brought for $25,000.

The first part of the trial as to whether the $500 settlement stood was decided by the court in favor of Mrs. Perkins, and the part of the case pertaining to the damages was heard by a jury.

The case will probably go to the jury today. The array of legal talent is considerable, especially on the company's side. Attorney Pillsberry is up from San Francisco, and J. E. Pemberton and T. J. Weldon are doing the heavy work for him. J. W. Preston and A. J. Thatcher represent Mrs. Perkins, and naturally they feel some elation at their victory in the preliminary bout.

St. John's M. E. Church

Preaching at 11 o'clock by the pastor; Lincoln anniverary sermon at 7:30. Attorney John L. McNab will speak on Lincoln as a statesman, Attorney Casper Ornbaun will speak of him as a lawyer and Mr. C. D. Flowers will speak of him as a Christian. Everybody invited.

WILL HAVE BIG JOINT INITIATION

Next Saturday evening at Odd Fellows' hall in this city will occur the joint initiation of candidates into the two camps of Ukiah and Willits. The degree team of the Willits camp will put on the floor work and this camp will furnish twenty-five candidates for the ceremony, and Ukiah will also furnish a goodly number.

A special train will be run from Willits for the occasion, and at the conclusion of the ceremony a banquet will be served at Sanford's hall.

On the following day the unveiling ceremony of the order will be held at the M. E. Church South in this city in memory of deceased neighbors, R. B. Cleveland, G. W. Hughes and Neighbor Hendon of the eastern jurisdiction, all of whom are buried in the local cemetery. The public is invited to witness this ceremony and hear the oration by P. F. Gilroy, the state organizer for the Woodmen. The services will commence promptly at 11 o'clock.

The New Brewery

The boiler and engine have just been put in at the new brewery on Clara avenue and steam was got up for the first time Monday. It is expected that every thing will be ready for operations to begin in a week or two. A side track has been laid to the brewery from the main line of the railroad and shipping coveniences will be first class. The proprietors have been at a large expense fitting up an extensive establishment, which is as complete as any of its kind in the state, and their enterprise will be the means of bringing many dollars to the town.

Dont' fail to see Mrs. Wiggs' denominational flower garden.

BIG STORM DOES DAMAGE

Bridges Swept Away By Many Swollen Streams

The storm of last week, while not of a record breaking kind itself, did a great deal of damage throughout the county Streams have been higher without doing a considerable amount of damage, but the long continued rain had so softened the ground that slides and weakened foundations made possible the wrecking of bridges that would otherwise have withstood the high water.

The Largo bridge, just completed by the contractor and to have been accepted by the county this week, went out last Saturday evening. A pier near the bank gave away, letting the structure into the stream. This same bridge was washed away last winter. The county had advanced $5,000 on the bridge, the contract price of which was $9,985.

The Pieta bridge, which was the proprety of the toll road company, was also washed away. It was being built also to take the place of one swept away last season. It is said that the county was to have paid $500 towards its cost when completed.

The bridge across Russian river above Calpella lost a part of two of its piers and is in a bad condition.

The Big river bridge at Mendocino lost the piers at the mid-stream and one end of one span has dropped about eight feet. The piers were carried away by the boom breaking at the mill and the escaping logs carried the piling out. A ferry has been put in to care for traffic. Several hundred valuable logs were lost to the mill company.

A big landslide wrecked the kitchen of the Albion hotel, the Navarro grade slid in and the county road there will have to be rebuilt. A big slide between Manchester and Greenwood took an entire bluff into the ocean and with it went the county road. A big slide blockaded the road to the coast beyond Boonville.

The Fort Bragg railroad lost a big bridge, and the county road above Westport suffered great damage from slides. In several places it will have to be entirely rebuilt.

The California Northwestern railroad suffered no less than the county from the storm. The night train came no further than Cloverdale Saturday and Sunday nights and the noon train was delayed several hours during three or four days. Russian river cut in toward the railroad near Cloverdale and a crew of workmen kept moving the track over away from the encroaching stream.

The railroad bridge in Redwood valley lost a bent and passengers and mail were transferred there until a big slide beyond the summit stopped traffic several days. The road has been cleared and traffic resumed.

It is said that the Sherwood division is almost completely wrecked by slides and that it will be weeks before trains can again run over it.

STOP THE TRAIN AND RESCUE LADIES

Monday just after the noon train left Hopland the crew noticed a runaway rig in which were two ladies. The train was quickly stopped and assistance was rendered the ladies by the trainmen. The horse had run into a fence and fallen into a ditch. The two ladies were not much perturbed by their mishap and insisted on hitching up the horse and continuing their journey. A little thing like a runaway does not scare those Hopland maidens, anyway.

With Good People

Ex-treasurer J. N. Rea has accepted the position of cashier of the Bank of Commerce at Mendocino, which was made vacant by the resignation of Fred Stickney, now superintendent of the Caspar company. Mr. Rea will prove a desirable acquisition to Mendocino business circles. Mrs. Rea will join her husband later.

SANFORD WRITES FROM CAPITAL

Senator Gives Report of Meeting of Solons at Sacramento

Sacramento, Feb. 6th.—The bill attracting the most attention this week is the bill cutting off 1200 square miles from Fresno county and adding it to Kings county. Representatives from both counties have been busy here this week. Fresno is trying to prevent the passage of the bill while Kings is trying to pass it. There are a number of boundary disputes, probably fifteen in all, before the legislature, but this Fresno-Kings county is attracting the most attention. As to the result of this measure it is hard to guess. It looks as though the bill will pass the assembly and the big fight of the session will be in the senate. It is claimed that the Coalinga people wish to join Kings county as it is nearer the county seat and more convenient.

In this connection it might be mentioned that the Mendocino-Glenn boundary question will again come up. A bill has been introduced in the assembly defining the line more definitely between Mendocino and Glenn. It was hoped that a compromise could be effected, but that seems to be up in the air now. The Glenn county supervisors, assessor, surveyor and district attorney have been here. They have also hired an attorney to represent them here. A committee meeting will be held Saturday at which time arguments will be heard in regard to the matter. It is sincerely hoped that the Mendocino people will be represented at the meeting. The commitee nor the Glenn county people do not care to hear from myself or from Mr. Held as they know our position, but they do wish to hear from the supervisors, assessor and surveyor; so it is hoped that our people will do the Glenn people the courtesy to give them a fair hearing.

Last week and this week have been largely taken up by "junketing" trips, consequently work was delayed to a certain extent. The method of junketing as carried on by the assembly committees in nonsensical. They are traveling about the state at random and drawing mileage for the trips. Several committees are visiting different institutions with different objects in view, and about all the good they will do will be to give the assemblymen a vacation.

In the senate the "junketing" was arranged on a business basis. A committee of six, representing three different committees, are making a systematic and business like investigation of the institutions of the state. They are not traveling on a mileage ratio, but simply ask that their expenses be paid. This is the only committee that will go from the senate and when they return and make a report to the several committees there will be no doubt a great saving made to the taxpayers.

A number of bills have been passed in both houses so far. My bill paying the claim of C. J. Morf against the state of California for the capture of Chas. N. Jones, murderer of Frank Drake, has already passed the senate and gone to the assembly. My joint resolution No. 2, relative to the remission of duties on structural material necessary to rebuild San Francisco and other cities that suffered from the disaster of last April has also passed the senate unanimously. The constitutional amendment providing for a direct primary law has passed the assembly and is in the senate. There has been no opposition to the measure as both political parties advocated it in their platforms. The amendment was drawn up by the attorneys of the San Francisco Call and is doubtless broad enough to cover the question. The next legislature will have to pass the primary law as this constitutional amendment, if adopted by the people, is simply an enabling act. The people will, in all probability, adopt the amendment, however, and it is hoped the next legislature will place a direct primary law on the statute books.

Dr. King, of the Mendocino State hospital, was here last week and in conference with Dr. Hatch, of the lunacy commission, it was thought that a bill for the erection of a cottage for the acute insane at Ukiah should be introduced, so I introduced such a measure last week appropriating $30,000 for the purpose. The hospital committee has already reported favorably on the blil and it is now in the hands of the finance committee and a favorable report is expected soon.

Thinking that the ballot law should be changed so as to permit of more independent voting, I have introduced a bill restoring the features of the old Australian ballot law and doing a way with party columns and voting in the circle. According to this bill a person must stamp after the name of each candidate for whom he desires to vote. In other words, instead of voting for thirty or forty people by stamping in a circle, it is intended that the voter shall use some discrimination and stamp after the name of every man for whom he wishes to vote.

Another bill that I have introduced that seems to me would be a splendid measure is one to prevent corporations from contributing any of their funds for political purposes. It is the New York law adapted to the California statutes and absolutely prohibits corporations contributing any of their funds for political purposes and places a heavy fine and imprisonment upon the directors who divert the funds for such purposes. If this law and the law against lobbyists should pass we would have a great deal better legislation in California.

It is presumed that a committee from the senate and possibly one from the assembly may visit Ukiah the latter part of this week or the first part of next week to inquire into the wants of the Ukiah Asylum. Our institution is asking for less than any other institution in the state, only asking for the erection of this cottage in addition to the maintenance and support. Most of the other institutions are asking for large amounts. Of course Agnews is totally destroyed and will have to be rebuilt entirely, but it would seem that Ukiah ought to get something out of the wreck anyway. Our people should make it a point to impress upon the committee the necessity for the appropriation asked and thus assist Mendocino's representtives here. J. B. S.

YOUNG MAN IS KILLED IN MILL

On Monday Harold H. Engleberg met death in the Greenwood mill by being caught in a belt. His neck was broken, his chest badly bruised and he was internally injured.

An inquest was held by Justice Walker, the jury rendering a verdict that deceased met his death by accident.

Harold Engleberg was a young man about twenty years of age and had been working but a short time in the mill, coming from Gilroy.

The remains were brought to Point Arena on Wednesday and embalmed by Undertakers McCallum & Linscott. They will be shipped to Gilroy tomorrow.—Point Arena Record.

LE GRAND MORSE PASSES AWAY

Attorney T. L. Carothers last night received a telegram announcing the death of LeGrand Morse, formerly of Point Arena. The funeral will take place at Point Arena.

Mr. Morse was one of the most prominent citizens of the south coast for many years, and no man was more highly esteemed. He represented this county in the assembly one term.

Guardian Appointed

Charley Robinson was last week appointed guardian of the estate and person of Mrs. Sarah Scott, colored, of Round valley. It is said that Mrs. Scott recently deeded her property to other parties for an inadequate consideration. The court declared her incompetent and appointed the guardian. A number of Covelo people were called in connection with the case.

THE ELOQUENT NUDGE.

An Incident Illustrating a Trait In Woman's Nature.

"Do you see the woman walking in front of us there?" asked the man with the fashionable tie to the friend who was strolling up Broadway with him. "Do you notice anything particularly striking about her? Nothing, except that she is very well dressed? That's what I would say. Now, I'll bet you half a dollar that when she passes the three women walking just ahead of her all three will nudge each other simultaneously."

The woman behind was walking faster than the three in front and she soon passed them. The three women looked her over from foot to head, then nudged each other with their elbows as if possessed with the same thought.

"How did you know it?" inquired the friend as the other pocketed the half dollar.

"I didn't know it," was the reply. "If I had it would have been taking an unfair advantage of you to bet. But I was reasonably certain of it. There is a certain indescribable something in some women's manner, appearance and carriage that causes all other women to nudge each other at sight of her. I couldn't tell you just what it is, but I'm ready to put up a wager on it every time. The nudge is simply a part of women's sign language which means something that cannot be put into words, but which every other woman understands."—New York Press.

The Word "Crank."

Crank in the sense of an eccentric person is a new word. The very first written instance of crank in the modern sense that could be found for Dr. Murray's dictionary was in the reports of the trial of Guiteau, President Garfield's murderer. Guiteau's reference to somebody as a crank gave the word a vogue that has gone on spreading. But the adjective cranky was known in 1787 as meaning sickly (the German "krank"), and to Dickens in the senses of cross and crochety. In all its meanings it springs from the root idea of crookedness, as does crank in its sixteenth century sense of a deceitful trick, as in "quips and cranks."

The History of Tacitus.

The entire history of Tacitus, as we have the work, was regained from a single copy found in the fifteenth century in a monastery of Westphalia. That we should owe the works of this author to one copy is a remarkable circumstance, for the Emperor Tacitus, who claimed to be a descendant of the historian, had copies of the history placed in every library of the empire and each year had ten copies transcribed for presentation to scholars. All, it seems, perished, save the Westphalian copy.

The Great Difficulty.

"One-half of the world's happiness is solved when a person learns to mind his own business."

"Yes, but it's the other half that causes the most trouble."

"What's that?"

"Getting other people to mind theirs."—Home Notes.

THE ARAB.

An Artist In Manners Is This Son of the Orient.

In all matters of sentiment the Arab's instinct is sure. If you can appeal to him on any ground of hospitality or generosity, says the author of "In the Desert," you have a hold on him.

It used to be the boast of Arab poetry in its best days that it "never praised a man except for what was in him," and the habit of judging directly and without regard to surroundings has always been an instinct of the race. All those evidences of worldly prosperity and success which turn the heart of the Anglo-Saxon to water leave the Arab unmoved.

The Arab is an artist in manners. I remember a certain sheik, who was once my traveling companion on the Upper Nile, a tall, lean, keen faced man, of a complexion almost black, with a glitter on it like the sun polish on desert stones, who walked among the fellahs on the crowded deck like a chief among his slaves.

With him I shared the same narrow corner of the deck. He was strict in his religious observances and at the appointed hours would spread his mat on the deck, turn in the supposed direction of Mecca and then kneel and rise and kneel again, bowing with his forehead to the ground in the imposing attitudes of Moslem prayer.

Quick at detecting the least sign of consideration or respect, if we stopped talking or moved to make room, he would treasure up the courtesy and when his prayers were over turn and acknowledge it with a grave gesture and a smile that seemed no conventional grimace, but expressed the intention of a deliberate friendliness.

PALISADES FORMATION.

Allied in Time and Type to Mount Holyoke and Cape Blomidon.

The complete height of the cliff was much higher, originally, for the glacier that buried North America down to this latitude eroded billions of tons which went to the upbuilding of Long Island, trap bowlders being common in the soil of Brooklyn, and I have found on the top of the Palisades opposite Spuyten Duyvil glacial groovings and polishings that have survived the presumptive 15,000 years since the glacier melted. The outpour of this mass from a volcano whose crater we cannot so much as guess in this day was tremendous, and it cut the Hudson and Hackensack valleys asunder and pushed the harbor several miles to the southward, while related activities thrust above the surface, either as downpours or uppours, the thousand miles of basaltic hills that chain the Carolinas to the Bay of Fundy, so that our Palisades are allied in form and time to Mount Holyoke and Cape Blomidon.

To the mineralogist our Palisades do not yield as much of interest as we find in the rotting trap of Paterson, a few miles away, from which have been taken the largest prehnites in the world, sea green and wonderful; royal amethysts, balls of silky pectolite, and

Those acquainted with the deceased were grieved to learn of his death as it was rather sudden, he having been sick but a very few days. Dr. Milliken pronounced his malady blood poisoning from which he had had some trouble, but his most intimate neighbors did not realize that he was so near to death's door.

NEWSY ITEMS FROM WILLITS

(From the News.)

A ten-pound daughter arrived at the home of Wallace Smith last Saturday.

J. F. Barbee has been in town for the past week. Mr. Barbee says it seems like home to him.

Tobe Coffer and Jeff Dickens were in from Tomki Saturday. Tobe said that they were building fences during the recent snow storm and now when the white mantel has melted their fence is about ten feet in the air. Jeff says the only thing that puzzles him is how to get the barb wire off.

On Thursday last Mrs. Clarence Cady proved a charming hostess to her friends at her prettily furnished home in Northwestern. The vocabulary of cakes was the feature of the afternoon. Each guest wore something that suggested the name of a cake. The hostess herself, a recent bride, looked sweet and pretty in white, representing a bride's cake. A lively discussion took place which caused much pleasure and was enjoyed to a late hour when prizes were awarded. A beautiful china plate was given as first prize. A dainty and appetizing repast was served at the conclusion of the games.

An alarm was rung in at 10 o'clock Monday for a fire in the house of Phil Exley in the southern addition to Willits. It caught from a superheated stove during the temporary absence of the owner. The firemen were on the ground promptly, but the absence of a convenient hydrant delayed the company a sufficient length of time to permit the practical destruction of the house. The contents of the dwelling were saved with but slight damage. The blaze accentuates the necessity for a more judicious distribution of the fire plugs, for had there been one other than across a swollen stream, the damage to the property would have been nominal. There was no insurance on the building, and the loss is estimated at about $600.

CHAMP CLARK'S LETTER

Tom Johnson a Power in Ohio — Ollie James, the Kentucky Peacemaker — A Lynching In Republican Iowa — The President's Title

[Special Washington Letter.]

WHEN Tom L. Johnson, ex-representative in congress and mayor of Cleveland, was defeated for governor of Ohio some years ago by an overwhelming majority his enemies declared with ghoulish glee that at last he was done for. They counted him as a "dead one" for sure. But there were some men who did not believe any such stuff, for the all sufficient reason that they are acquainted with Tom Johnson, know his splendid capacity, comprehend his patriotic purposes and admire his unquailing courage. So they believed that he would rise again, and they were correct. Since his defeat for governor he has been re-elected mayor, has won a great victory in the courts in favor of his plan for a three cent fare on street cars, and the last news from Buckeyedom is that he will again run for governor simply to accomplish certain reforms which he deems important. Having accomplished these, so the dispatches say, he purposes to resign the governorship and return to the mayoralty, for which he has a most decided penchant and ability of a high order. Men who cannot understand how anybody can be completely wedded to an idea are dumfounded by such a programme. Tom and the great city of Cleveland appear to understand each other thoroughly, and as its candidate for mayor he is invincible. Even when Senator Marcus A. Hanna was in his palmy days and was carrying Republican Ohio around in his vest pocket he could not oust Tom from the mayor's chair. From that coign of vantage he defied Senator Hanna to do his worst. A year or two ago he published a letter or interview in which he stated that it seemed to him that the proper subject for his political endeavor was municipal reform, and to that he appears to have dedicated his talents and his energies. His success has caused Cleveland to be regarded as the best governed city in the world. So his old congressional confreres wish him happiness, prosperity and length of days.

Ollie M. James.

"Blessed are the peacemakers" are Scriptural words which are peculiarly applicable to Ollie M. James, representative in congress from the Gibraltar of Democracy in Kentucky. To my certain knowledge he has prevented at least two fights on the floor of the house. Isn't that a strange thing for a Kentuckian to be doing—that is, the Kentuckian as he is generally pictured? The popular belief is that the typical Kentuckian goes constantly armed to the teeth and is ready to fight at the drop of a hat and if needs be drop the hat himself. Yet here is this Kentuckian, who comes as near being typical as any other Kentuckian that I wot of, the greatest peacemaker in Washington, bar none. There is no doubt whatever that he would fight himself with the proverbial courage of his race if there was any necessity for so doing, but he seems to be most happily constituted for preserving the congressional peace. He is a giant in stature and strength. His modus operandi is simplicity personified. When a member gets hot in the collar and starts toward a fellow member for the purpose of disfiguring his physiognomy Ollie picks the aggressive one up and carries him out of the hall to cool off, or, if he thinks that unnecessary, he contents himself by holding him on the floor. When he clutches the would be fighter that's the end of that row, for he could easily take two average members and knock their heads together. How he happens to be always in the right place at the right time I do not know, but such is the fact. This brilliant young Kentuckian has a large, shapely head, with a bushel of brains in it. He is one of the crack orators of Kentucky, a close personal and political friend of William J. Bryan, representative from the strongest Democratic district in Kentucky, a prime favorite with all who know him, with a splendid future. Withal he is modest, amiable and true as steel in every relation of life. Plain as an old shoe, honest as the day, he speaks out in meeting and is not afraid to let people know what he believes.

Human Nature Crops Out.

"Tell it not in Gath, proclaim it not in the streets of Askelon," but, nevertheless and notwithstanding, it is proper to state that a lynching bee has just been pulled off in Iowa, not only with neatness and dispatch, but with great eclat. Had this thing happened in Mississippi or South Carolina—in fact, anywhere down in Dixie—we would soon be surfeited with solemn lectures by the northern press on southern brutality. Had it happened in Idaho or New Mexico, our lives would soon be made miserable by lectures in the eastern press as to western barbarities; but, now that it has happened in Iowa, an old settled northern Republican state, with every state office, both United States senatorships, eleven seats in the federal house of representatives, two cabinet portfolios and nine-tenths of the district, county and township offices held by Republicans, what will the northern and eastern writers—the holier than thou writers—do now, poor things? Will they come out and honestly say, in the language of the most famous American author now living, that illustrious Missourian, Mark Twain, that "human nature is strong, and we all have a heap of it in us," and apologize for the wholesale abuse of the south and west? Will they state to an expectant world the half truth that southern and western people and Iowa people are quite liked to act in much the same way under equal provocation? That's what they ought to say, but that's precisely what they will not say. They will probably keep somewhat mum about this Hawkeye lynching and make amends by an unusual outburst of indignation when the next one occurs in the south or far west. From the press reports touching this Iowa lynching at Charles City it seems that four or five preachers, several women and most of the prominent citizens attended this strenuous function, some as active participators, while the rest, after the manner of Saul of Tarsus at the stoning of Stephen, "stood by, consenting." There was something like a thousand of them in that mob. It is said there was no effort on the part of the lynchers to disguise themselves. They battered down the jail doors, terrorized the sheriff and did the usual things done by mobs bent on lynching a prisoner. They gave the poor devil a chance to pray—which is, I believe, usual in such cases—and then strung him up on a bridge. Really, that is the usual caper—where a bridge is handy.

It will be remembered that not long since President Roosevelt, on the advice of my friend Representative Adamson of Georgia, gave a Georgia sheriff a good fat office because he had courageously fought a mob to protect a poor negro prisoner, but the president will have no cause to reward Mr. Sheriff Schermerhorn of Charles City, Ia., for his valor, and Mr. Andrew Carnegie will hardly decorate him with a hero's medal. Speaking of Georgia, it is apropos to state that recently a white preacher in Georgia was executed by the sheriff after a fair trial and an affirmation of his conviction by the supreme court for as brutal a double murder as ever took place in America. The Georgians did not lynch him, but let the law take its course. The citizens of Charles City, Ia., however, could not wait for the slow processes of the law upon their double murderer. They worked him off themselves.

Some good Republican brother up north who is in favor of reforming everybody but himself ought to carry to President Roosevelt the news of this flagrant case at Charles City, Ia. Perhaps he might be induced to send in a special message on the subject—at least to give it an entire paragraph in his next annual message. I am certain that it would be interesting to observe the countenances of the northern contingent while the clerk was reading a Rooseveltian lecture to the Hawkeyes on the ethics of lynching.

Be it understood that I am not defending lynching. I am trying to jog the public memory to the fact that human nature is much the same in Iowa as in Louisiana and that a lynching will occur occasionally even in the best regulated Republican communities. It has been so from the beginning of time, and it will be so to the end. Wherefore? "The law's delay" is the reason.

Settled at Last.

The fathers of the republic debated in extenso the burning question as to how the chief magistrate of the republic should be addressed. Many titles of varying length and degrees of magnificence were suggested. There was much of heart burning and bitterness manifested in the debates, letters, conversations and essays on the subject, for it must never be forgotten in writing, thinking or speaking of the fathers that in opinions they ranged from "high flying federalists," as Jefferson termed them, such as Alexander Hamilton and Gouverneur Morris, who at heart were monarchists, to unwashed democrats whose ideas of liberty were much the same as those of the sans culottes of revolutionary France. It is recorded by a more or less veracious chronicler that old John Adams was in high dudgeon because no title was given to the president and vice president. Truth to tell, old John was much enamored of forms and ceremonies and dearly loved the pomp of European courts. The ungodly democrats pained him sorely, and Jefferson's red velvet breeches scandalized him greatly. In passing it may be apropos to state that when General William Henry Harrison departed this life, being the first president to die in office, and John Tyler succeeded, the members of the Harrison cabinet, with the godlike Daniel at their head, were seriously puzzled to devise a title for John. They suggested several such as "John Tyler, vice president, acting as president," etc., but that while J. T. was in transit from the James river to Washington. When he arrived they presented to him their assortment of titles and invited him to take his choice. J. T. promptly cut the Gordian knot by rejecting them all and by informing them that he was no longer V. P., acting or otherwise, but was a full fledged president and would sign his name as "John Tyler, president." In his life of Colonel Thomas Hart Benton, President Roosevelt says that to call John Tyler a mediocre man is rank flattery, but nevertheless and notwithstanding had it not been for John Tyler's good sense and courage, denying three and one-half years of his sojourn in the White House, he would have signed documents "Theodore Roosevelt, Vice President, Acting President," or something equally ludicrous. So that in common justice when Colonel Theodore Roosevelt publishes a revised edition of his works for the benefit of posterity he should revise his estimate of John Tyler. So at least it seems to me.

Did if the fathers failed to bestow a high sounding title on the president the sultan of Morocco has made amends by thus addressing the present occupant of the executive mansion:

The beloved, the most cherished, the exalted, the most gracious friend, most honored and excellent president of the republic of the United States of America, who is the pillar of its great influence and the director of its most important affairs, the most celebrated preserver of the ties of true friendship, the faithful friend, Theodore Roosevelt.

Most assuredly that leaves nothing to be desired in the way of high and mighty titles and is enough to make Thomas Jefferson turn over in his coffin. Speaking of names for men and things, it may be interesting to state that what was the "executive mansion" for a century is now officially "the White House," made so by the fiat of Theodore Roosevelt. So wags the world.

Impeachment a Failure.

There is still another subject which the name of John Tyler suggests, and that is impeachment. Everybody knows that Andrew Johnson was impeached, and only one vote was lacking to convict him. It required two-thirds of the senators voting to convict. The vote stood 35 to 19. It is not so generally known that articles of impeachment against John Tyler were prepared, though never introduced, and it will surprise most people to learn that Josiah Quincy the first did actually introduce articles of impeachment against Thomas Jefferson, which received one vote in the house—Josiah Quincy's. Consequently the articles never reached the senate and perhaps had no other result than to make T. J. hate J. Q. more intensely than before. The papers say that President Roosevelt has declared that he will risk impeachment, before he will yield an inch in the Brownsville matter—not much of a risk, after all, for impeachment has proved a rank failure in practice, however beautiful it may appear in theory. When Judge Chase was acquitted in his impeachment trial, though the impeaching forces were led by the vitriolic and brilliant John Randolph of Roanoke, backed heartily by Jefferson's whole administration, it was clear to all men that there was little danger to officeholders in the impeachment process. Really only one federal official has ever been ousted by impeachment proceedings. Judge Pickering of New Hampshire, and he was crazy. When the war between the states began Judge Humphrey of Tennessee went with his state into the Confederacy without resigning and was impeached and convicted by the federal senate, but his case doesn't count.

THE DEAL IS MADE

H. Marks & Co. are now Manufacturers of Men's and Young Men's Clothing

At last we have made the deal, and we are now manufacturers of Mens and Young Men's clothing as well as dealers.

The clothing business in this city will now take a new turn, new life and new prices. We succeeded in buying an interest in a New York clothing factory and by special arrangements we will get the clothing for our own store at the exact cost of production, which will enable us to sell men's clothing at least twenty-five per cent cheaper than any other clothier in this section of the state.

You will see a stock of clothing here this spring that will resemble a wholesale house. We will carry a double stock. We will continue handling the great Kuppenheimer line, as for high class clothing it has no equal and but one superior, that is the Stein Bloch clothes, a more expensive line.

Our own make will revolutionize the clothing trade in this section. While this factory is only a little over a year old, the manufacturers received much praise from retail clothiers in the east who handle the line. It is a good fitting line, well made and of good materials only.

Getting the clothing at cost of production we will be able to sell them at prices that no competitor will dare to compete, and in order to introduce the line we will sell them at unheard of low prices. You will be able to get two suits here this spring for what one will cost you elsewhere.

Don't go wrong by buying your spring suit elsewhere before you see our new line, as you will surely throw away from five to ten dollars on a suit.

The clothing is on the way now, and will be here within two or three weeks.

Look out for sensational prices on Men's and young Men's clothing.

H. MARKS & CO.

OUR SUCCESS

isn't made up of orders. It is made up of RE orders. And a good customer, wrongly treated, lasts no longer than the shoddy he buys.

There is always a "come-back" on every sale. Whether it is a "come-back" in re-orders, or a "come-back" in returned goods depends entirely upon your product itself.

VALUE RECEIVED

is the most potent salesman after the first order has been filled.

Every cent SAVED in shortened VALUE is lost in shortened TRADE. To keep up the sales—we keep up the quality.

We aim first to sell SATISFACTION and the goods that give it will re-sell themselves.

SMITH'S CASH STORE

To Mr. and Mrs. Householder:

SEND US $10.

for one fully Co-operative Share in this rapidly developing business, established in 1879. You will share in co-operation at its best.

EVERYBODY MAY, and surely will come in with us on this basis. We have formerly not sold less than five shares to one person—$50. Now $10 does the work.

Today we say we will sell five shares to five different persons and gain lots of added custom by doing so. It's a broad business principle, but it takes broad gauge liberal methods to win.

You can take as many shares as you like—for investment—not over $100, but you are a co-operator in the fullest sense of the word, whether you invest $10 or $1,000. We want your added good will and expect you to find one more investor besides.

A mail order house owned by its customers must succeed immensely. Each person who subscribes $10 gets a fully paid up certificate, entitling him to our "owner's co-operative discount" on all his purchases of 5 per cent. It is paid at the time of purchase of each bill of goods, large or small. You may deduct it in remitting from your order. If your bill is $20, take off 5 per cent, $1, and send us $19.

This offer to come in for $10 as a part owner in the store is good all this month. Write us to reserve you a share, if you can't take it this month.

Dividends will be paid on shares, but the 5 per cent co-operative discount is the greatest dividend to $10 owners. It isn't much to risk, and there is no risk. This store is fortunate in having a few hundred shareholders already. We refer to all of them. They buy from us 15 per cent of our output. No better business exists than the mail order trade, and our shareholders are fortunate to belong to it.

We employ a great many men, each has his own work to do. The bookkeepers record every transaction, and each one has access to the returns who owns a share. The profits are divided share and share alike, equally and honestly. We do a legitimate business only. Everything is carried on with system, dispatch and economy.

We pledge ourselves to sell as low as ever, subject only to market values and fluctuations. No one matches our regular cash wholesale rates to families. We give you the same values, weights, and select quality, and 5 per cent besides, through you only sending us $10 as an evidence of your belief in us and our co-operative plan. Our business in enormous today. It will double and treble when our co-operative link binds a few more thousand into our buying family. Can you not see the outgrowth of it? Add the power of increased numbers—sure to reap benefits as we grow greater. Today we own the best business in San Francisco and the buildings in which it is carried on. You can fully share by sending $10. Fill coupon below. We take consignments of non-perishable produce on sale now. You can pay in produce as well as cash. We expect your return order for one share or more.

Little Boy is Called

Raymond Wiley English, the three year old baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. English, of Redwood valley, died at Ukiah on Sunday night, February 3rd, of spinal meningitis. He had been in poor health for some time and was brought here two weeks before his death in order that he might have the best of medical attention, and everything possible was done by the several doctors in attendance to arrest the progress of the disease, but without avail.

Little Raymond was a lovable child and a great favorite with the relatives and friends of whose lives he had become a part, and his premature death casts a shadow over them which time alone can efface. The grief stricken father and mother and the sorrowing grandparents have the sympathy of the community in this sad bereavement.

Death of Mrs. Jackson

Mrs. George W. Jackson, one of the oldest settlers of this valley, passed away at her home in this city last Sunday morning. She was nearly eighty years old, and with her husband she came to Ukiah valley early in 1858. She was the mother of eleven children, of whom but three survive. They are Mrs. F. C. Albertson, Mrs. Amos Brooks and Mrs. H. Frazier.

The funeral took place Tuesday. The aged husband and other relatives have many friends to sympathize with them in their bereavement.

Sales of Realty

Poage & Ford, the real estate dealers, report that they continue to sell lots in their new Percy addition, east of the depot. They have closed the sale of the old home place, where Mr. Morby formerly resided, to R. R. Lucas. This gives Mr. Lucas a nice home adjoining his mill and lumber yards. They have also sold two additional lots to J. H. Cook, who recently sold his manganese mine in Redwood valley. W. T. Rice, who purchased one of these lots, has already begun the erection of a nice cottage.

Help Rebuild San Francisco

One of the first stores to rebuild and start in business after the great fire of April 18th was the Smiths' Cash Store, a Country Mail Order House, selling goods by catalogue. That company, after a few days had passed, and the bricks were hardly cold, put up an iron building on a portion of their previous building site, and began stocking goods, selling and shipping. They duplicated about $2,000 worth of goods on orders that had been burned up, for which they received no second payment.

A little later on, they put up another sheet-iron structure on a large lot adjoining at 14 to 24 Steuart street, and with the two buildings they are now crowded with business, daily increasing, and which has taxed their capacity to the utmost. They are arranging to have their store rebuilt on their former location, 25 Market street, which was for so many years a land mark to people coming to town.

This company, with others, sustained a very severe loss during the fire, and they propose to rehabilitate upon the plan of letting their customers join in their affairs to the extent of purchasing a small interest from $10 to $1,000. Any one pay- at wholesale rates, this amount is saved. Their trade is expanding rapidly, and is a true, practical co-operative plan. It will be further explained by addressing the store, or H. A. Smith, President and General Manager, No. 14 to 24 Steuart street, San Francisco, Cal.

As You Please.

In the ancient times there lived a wonderfully wise man, of whom it was said that he could answer correctly any question put to him. There was one, however, who thought himself clever enough to outwit the sage. This man took a poor, captive bird and clasped it so closely in his hand that only the head and tail were visible.

"Tell me," said he to the renowned guesser of riddles, "is the bird which I hold in my hand alive or dead?"

If the answer were "Dead," thought this artful plotter, he would just open his hand and let the bird fly. If the answer were "Alive," he would with one little squeeze crush the poor bird to death.

But the wise man proved himself equal to the occasion and replied, "It is as you please."

Each one holds within his or her grasp the fair bird of life. Which is it to be? A blessing or a bane? It is "as you please."

Pressed to Death.

An English court has sentenced a woman to imprisonment because she refused to speak during a trial. The old penalty for remaining mute under similar conditions was being pressed to death. The form of sentence set forth "the prisoner shall be laid in some low, dark house, where he shall lie naked on the earth and one arm shall be drawn to one quarter of the house with a cord and the other arm to another quarter, and in the same manner let it be done with his legs, and let there be laid upon his body iron and stone, as much as he can bear—or more." There the man had to lie. On the following day he was given three morsels of bread without water, on the following water, but no bread. And this was his diet until he died.

Great Discovery.

The editor of a Kansas paper states that he once borrowed a Winchester rifle and started up the street a few days after to deliver the weapon to its owner. The delinquent subscribers got it into their heads that he was on the warpath, and every one he met insisted on paying what he owed him. One man wiped out a debt of ten years' standing. On his return to his office he found a load of hay, fifteen bushels of corn, ten bushels of potatoes, a load of wood and a barrel of turnips that had been brought in. We would like to borrow a Winchester for a day or two. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Disadvantage of Health.

A visitor among the poor of the east end of London found unexpected testimony to the disadvantages of health in one of his calls. Mrs. B. had a family of a dozen children, and, like most of her class, she had her tale of woe to tell. "How are the children, Mrs. B.?" inquired the caller. "All very well, indeed, sir; very well, indeed," was the answer. "You ought to be thankful, I'm sure, with so much sickness about." "Yes, sir; I suppose I ought to be thankful; but, I tell you, when they're well they eat an awful lot."

A Horse and a Cow.

When in my teens, milking seven cows morning and evening and toiling on the farm all day, I made favorites of a bay mare and a Durham cow—Molly and Bess. Talk about your physical sympathy! Why, it was pathetic. Molly was my saddle horse, a single footer of rare excellence. I could ride her with one finger on the reins into the most forbidding places. Old Bess—oh, she used to kick a tooth out once in awhile and put her foot in the pail of milk, but the dear girl would follow me about with the affection of a child! Well, I was absent from the old home five years and returning found that of all the animals only Molly and Bess remained. Imagine my distress when Molly refused to notice me at all! While wondering at this loss of friendship I felt a warm, rasplike thing going over my hand, which was behind my back. Turning, I saw dear old Bess. Without notice she had come to lick me. If ever animal spoke with eyes and manner she did. Her happiness at seeing me again after so long a period was apparent to all observers, and during my brief stay at home it was all I could do to keep her from following me into the house. —New York Press.

No "Deadhead" Trip.

One of the most famous of American shipping lines in the palmy days of our marine was the Cope line, which ran between Philadelphia and Liverpool, says the author of "Memoirs of Charles H. Cramp." By this line John Randolph of Roanoke determined to go to Russia when he had been appointed minister to that country by President Jackson. Entering the office of the company in Philadelphia, he said to a clerk in his usual grandiloquent manner:

"Sir, I wish to see Thomas P. Cope."

He was shown to Mr. Cope's office.

"I am John Randolph of Roanoke," he said. "I wish to take passage to Liverpool in one of your ships."

If he expected to be tendered a pass he was grievously disappointed.

"I am Thomas Cope," replied the head of the line. "If thee goes aboard the ship and selects thy stateroom and will pay $150 thee may go."

A Timely Shake.

Some years ago the Duke of Connaught visited Japan and was taken by Sir Edwin Arnold round the bazars of Tokyo, where he bought many curious toys and specimens of Japanese art. In the evening he remarked to Sir Edwin that he had seen most of the sights, but had not experienced any of the earthquakes which are so common in Japan.

"I suppose you cannot show me one?" said the duke jestingly.

Immediately the house shook, the chandelier swayed backward and forward, the china and glass on the table rattled, and the door burst open.

"Why, Sir Edwin, you are a magician!" remarked the duke as the shock, which had happened at so curious a moment, subsided.

THE DISPATCH-DEMOCRAT

COUNTY OFFICIAL ORGAN

J. B. SANFORD

As Seen By a Californian

In a recent issue of the Oakland Herald, H. C. Semple, formerly a resident of Cloverdale, had the following article relating to the little brown men as seen in their native country:

"Letting theories severely alone, here are some indisputable facts about the Japanese nation which the writer learned during a residence of six years in Japan. Respectable foreigners are hooted, insulted, jostled and assaulted on the streets by coolies and others; called "Baka," the most insulting epithet a Japanese can apply to another, and "Katojiu," hairy foreigner. Roosevelt asserts that Americans are well treated in Japan. No foreigner is allowed to own land in that country.

"Much has been said of the great cleanliness of the Japanese, —that there are several bath houses in each city block. It is true, there are—where men, women and children all bathe together indiscriminately and naked in huge tanks, the water in which is changed on an average of about once in two weeks.

"The calling of the prostitute in Japan is considered a most respectable one, quite as much so as that of women cashiers, bookkeepers, milliners, dressmakers, etc.

"In the city of Shimonaseki there is an annual holiday called in English 'the holiday of the Ancient Emperor.' At this time business is suspended to do honor to the prositutes, who are given a great ovation in commemoration of the women of an ancient emperor's household and others who became prostitutes for the purpose of raising funds to enable the emperor, who had suffered defeat, to carry on the war in which he was eventually successful.

"Families in Japan live together like rabbits, it being a common thing for little girls to be debauched by their own fathers and brothers.

"A Japanese considers it a mark of superior business talent if he can make a few dollars by the violation of an agreement, especially in dealing with a foreigner. The foreigners in Japan do not trust the Japanese in anything. The foreign banking institutions all employ Chinese Shrofs to handle the cash and in similiar positions of responsibility and trust. The Chinese merchants in Japan are greatly respected and are on a parity with other foreign nations on account of their reputation for honesty.

"The Japanese are mostly cordially hated and detested by foreigners in that country. Even the Jews in Japan prayed for the success of the Russian arms.

"In the older treaty ports, which are Yokohama, Kobe, Nagasaki and Hakodate, there is a certain amount of apparent civilization, but the universal expression of foreigners visiting Japan is, 'These people are not civilized,'

"Roosevelt says the Japanese have been most friendly to the United States. In my report to United States Minister Bock and Naval Attache A. L. Key during the Philippine insurrection, it was fully proven that ship after ship loaded condemned Japanese arms and munitions of war at Moji, purchased by Japanese army officers, which were sent to the Philippine insurgents."

NEW BILL BY SENATOR SANFORD

Tuesday's Call has the following regarding Senator Sanford's latest measure in behalf of the common people:

Sanford, of Ukiah, introduced a bill in the senate today prohibiting corporations or other industrial associations from making campaign contributions to political organizations. The measure is drafted on a law enacted in New York, following the exposure made by the Hughes investigating commission of how the insurance companies influenced legislation at Albany.

The bill provides that "any officer, director, stockholder, attorney or agent of any corporation or joint stock association which violates any of the provisions of this section, who participates in, aids, abets or advises or consents to any such violation, and any person who solicits or knowingly receives any money or property in violation of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by imprisonment in the county jail for more than one year, and a fine of not less than $500."

Another provision stipulates that no person shall be excused from testifying or producing books or other documents before any court or magistrate investigating violations of the act on the ground that the testimony required may convict him. It is stipulated, however, that such testimony cannot be employed to prosecute the witness called upon.

S. H. Townley, who has been in charge of the observatory station here for several years, has been appointed to a position at Stanford university, where he will teach mathematics. Mr. and Mrs. Townley have many friends here who will regret their departure.

The rainfall for the month of February to date is 4.06 inches; for the season 24.84; up to this date last year 22.86; highest temperature 65 degrees and the lowest temperature 36 degrees.

An Effective Boomer

In the February issue of the California Promotion Committee's publication, "For California," P. I. Lancaster, president of the Willits board of trade, has an excellent article descriptive of Mendocino county and the advantages and attractions of the county as a place for settlers. It covers the ground as thoroughly and as well as possible and through the extensive circulation in the east given the pamphlet it should exert a potent influence in directing home seekers towards our county Mr. Lancaster is an enthusiastic worker for the county's interests and Willits is fortunate in having such an enthusiast among her citizens.

Pioneer Printer Here

William M. Cubery, an old time printer of San Francisco, came into town from Orr's springs Monday. He has been stopping at that resort several weeks recuperating from a surgical operation he underwent some time ago, and he intends to remain in Ukiah for a time before returning to the city.

Mr. Cubery is one of the most prominent business men of the metropolis. If we remember correctly he was a member of the famous Vigilance Committee of 1856, and he is the author of a number of brochures and treaties on civic and economic questions. His firm is one of the oldest in the city, and has resumed operations since the April fire.

Christian Sunday School Contest

Interest deepens every weekin the Healdsburg-Ukiah contest. The announcement that Healdsburg had led in every point last Sunday has given new impetus to the work and the stay-at-homes are being looked after htis week. Healdsburg certainly rallied and tried to make up for what they had lost the Sunday previous. The standard set for Ukiah is "200 rain or shine," next Sunday.

Aside from the contest, the Sunday school is an interesting place to visit. There is a place for everyone from cradle roll to invalid, and all are made welcome. Drop in and see the school work.

REGULAR MEETING OF CITY TRUSTEES

The regular meeting of the city trustees was held Monday evening, all the members except Mr. Miller being present.

Report of the Ukiah Water and Improvement company read and action deferred.

Application of California Oyster Market and Chop House for restaurant license granted.

Motion to accept ordinance fixing license on slot machines lost.

City Engineer instructed to construct sewer on Mason street between Norton street and Clara avenue.

City Attorney instructed to proceed as law directs, either civilly or criminally, against all property owners who have not connected with the sewer.

City Attorney directed to collect all licenses due the city except on boarding houses with less than ten rooms.

Board adjourned to meet Monday night, February 11th.

Death of Mrs. Gonsalves

Mrs. A. L. Gonsalves, of Melburne, passed away in Berkeley Tuesday after suffering many months from cancer. Mr. Gonsalves was the wife of one of the most prominent timber owners of that section of the county and was an intelligent, kind-hearted woman who was highly esteemed by her neighbors and acquaintances. She was the mother of Loui Gonsalves, the Republican nominee for district attorney last fall. Four other children survive her and with the husband mourn the loss of an affectionate wife and mother, whose character and teachings have been powerful influences for good in the lives of her children. She was the cousin of the present governor of the Azores islands, of which place she was a native, belonging to that better class of foreigners whose hardihood and stability has been a lasting benefit to their adopted country. The remains were interred at Mendocino yesterday.

PREPARE FOR ANNUAL ATHLETIC MEETING

The next annual field day contest of the Sonoma-Mendocino Amateur Athetic League will be held in Santa Rosa either on April 13th or 20th, the date to be determined when the time of the A. A. L. meet is set.

The annual meeting of the S. M. A. A. L. was held in Santa Rosa on Saturday morning and was attended by representatives of the schools interested. Prof. James S. Sweet was re-elected president of the league, a position he has held since its organization. Leo Hart, of the Petaluma high school, was elected secretary.

The Willits high school was admitted to the league which is now composed of the high schools of Santa Rosa, Petaluma, Healdsburg, Ukiah and Willits.

The usual silver cup will be hung up as a trophy for the team making the most points in the contest, and gold and silver medals will be awarded individual competitors as heretofore.

The additional team in the contest this year will add to the interest taken in the 1907 meet. Willits is said to have some good athletic talent, and will have a strong team. Excursions will be run, and the day promises to be a very auspicous one for all concerned.

Weather Report from Branscomb

As It Looks to Charley

The cold weather of the past week has been severe on stock. We have had right here on the edge of the ocean the coldest weather ever experienced. That slip in the cog last April must have sent us many miles north, notwithstanding the assertions of our talented Jap professor. No offense intended for Teddy.—Fort Bragg Advocate.

Long Grape Cutting

The Dispatch has received from P. Bargalotti, of Pieta, a grape vine cutting that surely demonstrates the adaptability of Mendocino county soil to the growth of the vine. The cutting is from a vine four years old and it measures exactly seventeen feet long. We do not know the variety.

RAILROAD WILL VOTE BIG BOND ISSUE

The following from the Examiner would indicate that the railroad company intends to at once take steps toward closing the Sherwood-Pepperwood gap:

The Northwestern Pacific railroad, the merger which has absorbed the Sausalito & Donahue roads and the small lines in and about Eureka, and which intends to complete the line between this city and Eureka, will in a few weeks vote to issue $35,000,000 of bonds. A meeting of its stockholders for that purpose will be held on March 12th. Part of the bonds will be set aside to take up the bonded debt of the several companies of which the new corporation is a merger.

An additional $9,000,000 of the securities will be offered for sale on this coast if investors want them. Otherwise they will be sold in the east. The money from the sale of the bonds will be used to complete the gap between Willits, the northern end of the Donahue or Foster road, and Pepperwood, the southern end of the road running south from Eureka. This piece of road will be 110 miles in length. Its construction will be costly, it being figured by the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific people, who jointly own the merger corporation, that the cost will be between $80,000 and $90,000 a mile. The route for a considerable distance will follow the windings of Eel river. A number of tunnels will have to be bored.

The main object of building this new coast trunk line is to tap the great redwood forests of Humboldt county. The railroad people figure that there is enough redwood in that region to furnish their road with 200 carloads a day for 200 years for shipment to the eastern market. According to the company's timber experts, shipments can be made by rail to points even east of the Mississippi river at a favorable rate.

LARGE PURCHASE OF REDWOOD LANDS

H. B. Hickey, for himself and a coterie of business associates, has recently purchased over two billion feet of redwood in the stand. This enormous amount of standing timber is contained on 32,000 acres in Humboldt county, California, and was formerly owned by the Pacific Redwood company, Redwood Investment company, J. C. Bull, Jr., Tom Blair, William Parrot, C. Hollerhoff and Dan Murphy, of Los Angeles. This acreage is said to contain some of the very best timber in the world and is situated on the line of the proposed railroad between Coos Bay and Eureka. The development of this property will proceed as the conditions seem to indicate.

Mr. Hickey and his associates also purchased the entire holdings of H. J. Crocker and J. M. Macdonough in Mendocino county, which is said to consist of half a billion feet on 12,000 acres in the vicinity of Usal, where the purchasers already owned a considerable holdings. These two sales and purchases are the most important to the redwood field, as their extent would signify, while the future activity of the purchasers will have great bearing on trade and market conditions.

Catarrh Growing Less

There has been a marked falling off of sales of catarrh cures in the local stores the past year. Medicines which were formerly purchased in gross lots are now seldom called for, and the druggist rarely buys more than a dozen at a time.

Hyomei is a notable exception to this decrease in sales. It is, in fact, largely repsonsible for the lessened sales of catarrh medicines, as it has cured so many people of catarrh troubles that natrually there is less call for remedies for that disease.

Three is no disagreeable dosing with Hyomei. It is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every Hyomei outfit. The Ukiah Pharmacy will give a personal guarantee that the money will be refunded unless the treatment cures, so that you run no risk at all in buying this reliable remedy.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but 18; extra bottles, if needed, 50 cents.
